South Australian AED Register Checker
AED location and hours of availability

The AED Register Checker has been developed to help AED owners check if their AED is registered on the South Australian AED register.

It is not a tool to find an AED in a cardiac emergency. In these circumstances, your first priorities are to call Triple Zero (000) and start CPR compressions.
The Triple Zero (000) call-taker can provide directions to a nearby AED if there is someone available to fetch it.

The AED Register Checker can be searched via the search field in your PDF viewer, by right-clicking to display a 'find' option or by Control + F or Command + F.
Search on your street address or your suburb/town.

Only publicly accessible AEDs are shown here, so if your AED is in a secure area, a locked cabinet or marked as 'private use only', it will not appear in this document.

The AED Register Checker is updated at the start of each month, so if you have registered recently, your AED may not appear here until the following month.
